reapplication for a Master's degree programme

Symptom (public)

Is my admission to a Master's degree programme still valid when I was admitted to a previous semester and did not enrol? Do I have to apply again?

Problem (public)

I have already applied for a Master's degree programme in a previous semester. I was admitted to this Master's degree programme, however I did not enrol. Now I have changed my mind and I would like to commence this Master's degree programme. Is my admission to the Master's degree programme still valid and do I have to apply once again via the online application portal movein? Do I have to submit all required documents once again?

Solution (public)

Although you were admitted to a previous semester and did not enrol, you have to submit a new application. Please enter your data again at Campo (www.campo.fau.eu ["<http://www.campo.fau.eu>"]).

The next step is to print out the application form in duplicate and to hand in both copies to the Master's Office. Please attach a copy of your admission letter. Please also attach all the documents which you have already submitted in the previous application procedure.

Please observe that your application for admission will be presented once again to the admissions committee which will decide whether you will be admitted to the Master's degree programme or not.
